The Company’s truck centers are strategically located in high traffic areas on or near major highways throughout the United States. The Company’s operations also provide vehicle up-fitting, chrome accessories and tires.

The Company manufactures or contracts to manufacture a small number of products that may contain gold, tantalum, tin or tungsten (“T3G” or “Conflict Minerals”) that are necessary to the functionality or production of the products. The Company is dedicated to tracing the origin of these Conflict Minerals in its products to ensure its sourcing practices do not support conflict or human rights abuses in the Democratic Republic of Congo and adjoining countries (each, a “Covered Country”).

This is the Conflict Minerals Report of Rush Enterprises, Inc. (the "Company") for calendar year 2013 in accordance with Rule 13p-1 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Rule 13p-1").

1. Introduction

The Company manufactures or contracts to manufacture a small number of products that may contain gold, tantalum, tin or tungsten ("Conflict Minerals") that are necessary to the functionality or production of such products. After conducting due diligence on the source and chain of custody of the Conflict Minerals, the Company is unable to confirm whether the Conflict Minerals originated in the Democratic Republic of Congo or an adjoining country (each, a "Covered Country"), or are from recycled or scrap sources. Accordingly, the Company is also unable to determine at this time whether the Conflict Minerals benefitted or financed armed groups in a Covered Country.

2. Product Description

The Company manufactures and contracts to manufacture certain aftermarket truck parts, accessories and components that may contain one or more Conflict Minerals.

The Company continues its efforts in (i) identifying other products it manufactures and contracts to manufacture that contain one or more of the Conflict Minerals, (ii) identifying the facilities used to process the necessary Conflict Minerals in the Products, (iii) identifying the country of origin of the necessary Conflict Minerals in the Products and (iv) identifying the mine or location of origin of the necessary Conflict Minerals in the Products.

3. Due Diligence Framework

The Company's due diligence process is based on the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development's (OECD's) Due Diligence Guidance for Responsible Supply Chains of Minerals from Conflict-Affected and High-Risk Areas.

4. Due Diligence Undertaken

The due diligence measures undertaken by the Company included the following:

- Assembled an internal team to support supply chain due diligence;

  - Engaged a third-party service provider to assist the Company in managing, tracking and reporting data across the Company's supply chain.

5. Steps to Improve Due Diligence

The Company is committed to mitigating the risk that its conflict minerals benefitted or financed armed groups in a Covered Country. The Company will continue to endeavor to improve upon its supply chain due diligence efforts by taking the following measures:

- Continue to assess the presence of Conflict Minerals in its supply chain;
- Communicate with suppliers the Company's expectations with regard to supplier performance, transparency, and sourcing;
- Continue to work with the Company's third-party service provider to obtain supplier responses to the Company's Reasonable Country of Origin Inquiry (RCOI); and
- Contact smelters identified in the RCOI process and request their participation in obtaining a "conflict free" designation from an industry program, such as the EICC/GeSI Conflict Free Smelter program.

6. Independent Private Sector Audit

Pursuant to Form SD and recent SEC issued guidance, the Company is not required to obtain an independent private sector audit.
